Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1-22 and 54-59 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Miller, Muszak et al. or Carey et al.

See the appropriate paragraph of the previous 1/23/04 Office action.

Applicants' have added the new limitation the first and second drive means are on a common horizontal plane. These references teach "an elevator assembly" that raises and lowers the drive means. The claim language only requires the drive means occupy a common horizontal plane at some time. The Office maintains the elevator assembly occupies the same horizontal plane as the other drive means when samples are being transferred between the two.

Carey et al. teach in incubation device having concentric rings that are independently operable in both forward and backwards directions that have been read on the claimed first and second drive means capable of operating in a first and second direction. The concentric rings are located in the same horizontal plane. The taught cuvette placement and extraction assemblies place the sample in the incubator and have been read on the claimed "load station". The taught immunoassay analysis has been read on the claimed read station.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 5/24/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Art Unit: 1743

Applicants argue Miller fails to teach a direct connection of the assemblies. Miller teaches an elevator that interconnects the two assemblies that has been properly read on the instant claims. Furthermore, the instant claims do not appear to have a limitation of "direct connection".

Applicants further state Miller and Muszak et al. fail to teach test samples or load stations in a common horizontal plane. As discussed above, the taught "elevator" will be in a common horizontal plane when the samples are transferring.

The remainder of Applicants remarks with respect to the other cited references were convincing and these rejections have been vacated.

Conclusion

Applicant's submission of an information disclosure statement under 37 CFR 1.97(c) with the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(p) on 4/26/04 prompted the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 609(B)(2)(i). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
